HAWAIIAN SONGS BEING BOOSTED BY ALAN RENTON

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

MADISON, Wis.—Hawaii has been extensively and effectively advertised at the University of Wisconsin and in Madison through the efforts of Alan Renton, a graduate of Punahou Academy and now a sophomore in the college of letters and science. Renton has appeared constantly before Wisconsin audiences, singing Hawaiian songs and playing the ukulele.

Last year he introduced the Hawaiian songs into the glee club, making the annual trip through the state with the latter organization and singing the solo part in a quartet. Possessing an unusually good voice, he was able to present the Hawaiian songs to the best advantage, and on all occasions proved a star performer. Among the songs sung by the group were "Aloha Oe," "Old Plantation," "One, Two, Three, Four," "Meleka E" and "Honolulu Tom Boy."

Renton was the organizer and chief figure in a recent vaudeville performance, which was held by the university students. His act was rated as among the best by all, and the most attractive by some. The scene presented the interior of a Hawaiian grass hut, in the middle of which stood a broad "hikie," and on which sat the performers. The act included both instrumental and vocal parts.

Hawaiian music is most popular at Wisconsin right now.

The ukulele is rapidly growing in favor and in time promises to occupy the same position it does on the western coast.

SOLDIER FINED $25 FOR THREAT TO KILL OFFICER

For threatening to kill Policeman E. R. Richardson with a knife Saturday afternoon on Hotel street, H. Burnett, Company A, 2nd Infantry, was yesterday fined $25 and costs in the police court. Eric Mitchell, who was with Burnett, was fined $10 and costs.

According to evidence given at the trial, Mitchell started the trouble by chasing pedestrians off the street at Smith and Hotel. When E. Y. Ping objected to profanity used by Mitchell, the soldier hit Ping on the head and started to chase him. Ernest King interfered and was thrown down by Mitchell. Burnett was trying to stop Mitchell's wild career when Policeman Richardson came summoned by a call from a box nearby which was turned in by King.

Richardson's presence irritated Burnett, and the latter drew a knife and raised it over the officer's chest, pushing the latter back against a wall and held him. Richardson finally got hold of the soldier's arm and he and Mitchell were arrested.

STREAMS FROM MANOA AND PALOLO JOINED

For the first time in the history of the oldest inhabitant, the Palolo and Manoa streams joined during the recent downpour. Albert P. Taylor of the Promotion Committee has been trying to secure data on this subject, but to date, none of the older residents can remember the joining of the two streams.

These gentlemen arrive on the Great Northern tomorrow morning and will be met at the wharf by officials of the Ad Club.

Dinkelspiel is preparing a new stunt for the occasion, which will be in the class of the former Dinkelspiel appearance. The exact nature of this offering will not be disclosed in advance. The music committee has arranged with Ben Hosea, an artist with the guitar and steel, to show the guests some "real Hawaiian music." This session promises to have the largest attendance on record for some time.

By wireless from the Great Northern last night, Waldo G. Paine of Spokane accepted for himself and the party accompanying him the invitation of the Ad Club to be its guests at lunch tomorrow.

THOMPSON DECLARES RUMOR HE HAD MOVED COST HIM JUST $50

J. Wesley Thompson, former assistant district attorney and now engaged in law practice, claims that is out just $50 as the result of recent report to the effect that he had moved from his office in the Bank of Hawaii building.

On the day it was rumored that Circuit Judge Stuart had quit, and that Mr. Thompson was likely to get his place, it was also reported that the latter was moving from his office. Mr. Thompson denied this at the time, but other persons said that he had his legal paraphernalia out in the hallway and was preparing to move.

"There was a client on his way to Honolulu to see me," Mr. Thompson says, "but when he saw the statement in the papers that I had moved, he didn't show up at my office. I guess he got another attorney. It was a divorce matter, and so I am out just $50."

Mr. Thompson was at work in his old office today.

LABORER CHEATS AUDITOR OF $16 BY SMOOTH GAME

On complaint of Robert Bicknell and Ed Hopkins, both of the city auditor's office, that he signed and drew the money on a warrant for $16 which rightfully belonged to a man named Kualai, Henry Kualai of Waimanalo is being held in the city jail pending investigation into the charges.

Kualai may also be charged with stealing a pair of pants from a friend and of taking along with him when he left Honolulu recently the wife of another friend.

Kualai is said to have appeared at the auditor's office and after calling the name of Kualai, who he knew had money due him, accepted the warrant handed him and signed his name so illegibly that it was accepted as the proper signature. After getting the money he disappeared until captured at Waimanalo by the police.

A. C. Pessoa, Portuguese consul-general, arranged for their transportation home to Koloa. The $7 contributed by Honoluluans to the Star-Bulletin relief fund was turned over to Mr. Pessoa, who will give it to the family.

During their stay here, the triplets, an older child, and the parents, were housed and fed by the Associated Charities, in a house on Punchbowl street. The other two children are at Koloa anxiously awaiting their return.
